

Dear Junior Tour Family,

We continue to keep our members and their families close in our thoughts during this difficult time. While health and safety continue to be our primary focus, we remain optimistic that within the next few months the sport we all love will be a tremendous platform in helping us to return to a sense of normalcy in our lives.

Out of an abundance of caution, we have decided to delay the official start of our Junior Tour season until June. Our Future Series events scheduled at Bethpage on May 2-3 and Eisenhower on May 16-17 have officially been postponed. Both of these events were supposed to serve as qualifiers for The Optimist International Junior Golf Championship. That event has officially been cancelled for 2020.

Junior Tour Membership for the 2020 season is open. If you have not yet registered to be a member please Click Here. If you have some downtime, now may be a great opportunity to complete your Rules Quiz.

We will notify you as more updates become available about our schedule and tournament registration over the next few weeks.

Below is our spring Future Series tournament schedule:

June 6-7 Bethpage Red (qualifier for the IMG Junior World)

June 20-21 Eisenhower White (part of the Northeastern PGA Junior Swing)

Registration for these events will open in the next few weeks so please monitor your email and our website for updates.

Again, we want you to know that during this difficult time your Metropolitan PGA family is thinking of you and looking forward to better times ahead. We will be in touch with regular updates and more information as it becomes available. Please keep checking our social media channels for ways to work on your game during this down time. Stay safe and healthy and we look forward to seeing you on the links in the near future!

All My Best,

Daniel Frankel
